Colorado Mountain College (CMC) requires laboratory environments to adhere to highly regulated standards and operate according to all local, state, and federal laws and regulations. All faculty, staff, students, and visitors must comply with this policy and related procedures, including any training set forth in the Laboratory Safety Manual. The College requires strict accountability and responsibility to maintain laboratories that are safe and healthy places in which to work, teach, and learn.

The College President or designee shall develop procedures for the implementation of this policy.
